When you join the team at Blind Service Association, you become part of a valuable support system for people who need it most. BSA does more than provide a "service" -we make it possible for the blind and visually impaired to maintain dignity and independence.

In just two hours a week, you can impact a life in countless ways. Whether you record books on tape or help with a homework assignment, the individuals who walk through the doors of BSA will all give you the same thing: heartfelt gratitude.

And who doesn't have time for that?
